NEW LOOK FOR PANDOSY STREET

Held up by a construction lockout last summer and subsequent bad weather, widening of the Pandosy Street Bridge utilized "virtually all" of the existing bridge and will permit an increased volume from two to four lane traffic. According to city officials, the $47,800 project under contract to Busch Construction

Co. Ltd., will provide the same roadway standards as that of Harvey Avenue, and paving of the bridge will be done in conjunction with re-paving of the rest of Pandosy Street.

Railing is of extruded aluminum approved by the highways department which shares a major portion of the cost. The project began last fall. —(Courier photo).

Trudeau Called 'Cowardly' By Irate P.Q. Labor Chief

OTTAWA (CP) — Quebec labor leader Michel Chartrand denied Tuesday he is a terrorist, flailed the federal and provincial governments as "fascist" and described Prime Minister Trudeau as "cowardly."

"I am not a terrorist," he told a public meeting "if I was I wouldn't be speaking here tonight I'd be working on machine-guns."

Mr. Chartrand, now facing charges of membership in the outlawed Front de Liberation du Quebec, said the federal government is "a fascist government and every government (provincial) across Canada is the same."

They supported a capitalistic system, and were profit-motivated, with no social or nationalistic considerations.

"Do you know of any other country in the world where governments don't know where government is responsible . . . or whose backside you should kiss?" he asked.

"Trudeau is too damned cowardly to sit down and have a look at Canada's constitution."

SUPPORTS FLQ

Mr. Chartrand, president of the Montreal central council of the Confederation of National Trade Unions, said that although he is not a terrorist he still subscribes to the FLQ manifesto.

"We're fed up with the domination of Ottawa, English Canada and the United States," he said.

Speaking under the sponsorship of the Emergency Committee to Restore Civil Liberties, he charged government interference of those jailed during the War Measures Act last Oct. 16.

"Justice should be above politics," said Chartrand, who now is on bail following dismissal of charges of seditious conspiracy against him.

Justice Minister John Turner was "a coward, like Trudeau."

"This was why they sent the army. They were panicked in Ottawa. There was supposed to be an insurrection in Quebec."

The news media was also criticized as being dominated by big corporations who tell the people "what they want them to think and buy." He said the people across Canada don't know what is going on in Quebec.

Indian Chiefs

Rap Victoria

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C. (CP) — The Union of British Columbia Indian Chiefs has criticized the provincial government for neglecting the Indian people in its official centennial book titled It Happened in British Columbia.

At a special general meeting Tuesday, the union decided to object to the book but not interfere with centennial celebrations being carried out by Indian bands.

"The book, if nothing else, is racist in omitting the Indian," said meeting chairman Bill Wilson of Comox.

DOLLAR UP

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian dollar up 7-32 at 99 15-32 in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling unchanged at $2.41 61-64.

AFTER IRA HOAX COMES LOVE LINE

LONDON (AP) — A British Army unit has installed "love line" to Belfast so worried wives of men serving in Northern Ireland can be reassured of their husband's safety.

The idea followed a series of hoax telephone calls to wives in England and Scotland, telling them their husbands had been shot.

Authorities theorized the calls were placed by Irish Republican Army terrorists as a psychological war weapon.

The new "love line" was laid down by the army from a regimental headquarters at Colchester. Ninety calls have already been made. The men have to pay for them but the expense is minimal.

Kidney Patient

Dies Aged 51

SEATTLE (AP) — Clyde Shields, 51, Seattle, the first man to stay alive by using a kidney dialysis machine, died in hospital here Tuesday, a spokesman for the University Hospital reported.

Shields had used the artificial kidney machine for 11 years. He was taken to the hospital Tuesday morning by the Seattle fire department after suffering an apparent heart attack at his home.

Dr. Belding Scribner developed the procedure for patients to use the artificial kidney machine. The device cleans impurities from the blood through a series of filters and baths when the kidneys fail.

Ontario Teachers Miffed

TORONTO (CP) — Angered at provincial restrictions on school board spending, representatives of Ontario's 34,000 high-school teachers issued an ultimatum Tuesday to Education Minister Robert Welch, demanding he reply by 9 a.m. Thursday to proposed modifications in the spending limits.

The two candidates for the presidency of the Ontario Secondary School Teachers' Federation followed the meeting's lead Tuesday night, both saying they agree with the concept of a more militant profession and with the possible need for strike action to give teachers a greater say in the education system.

But neither Jean Aceti of Sudbury, the current federation vice-president, nor Welland vice-principal Phillip Downie seemed willing to take a rigid stand on the spending restrictions.

Mrs. Aceti, questioned about her position concerning the ultimatum, said the spending ceiling is only one of a number of important areas with which the federation must be concerned.

To the same question, Mr. Downie replied that it is up to the federation's regional councils to get support for militant action. "When you are ready to march, I'll be there leading you."

DELEGATES IN ACCORD

As the annual meeting opened Tuesday, about 300 delegates voted almost unanimously to demand that the minister reply by 9 a.m. Thursday to their resolution that school boards be allowed to exceed spending limits if a majority of trustees approve.

Highway 'Sides' To Be Guarded In New B.C. Bill

VICTORIA (CP) — Although one of them called it "only a modest step forward," members of the New Democratic Party voted in the legislature Tuesday night for legislation which will give the provincial government power to acquire land adjacent to new highways, to protect and control its use.

But second reading of the bill amending the Department of Highways Act, was opposed by the five Liberal MLAs in the house on grounds that it does not go far enough to safeguard such land against speculators.

During adjourned debate on what has become a recurring theme in the current session, former highways minister Phil Gaglardi, who now holds the rehabilitation and social improvement portfolio, twice rose to ask if an NDP member was casting aspersions on his own conduct.

Mr. Gaglardi resigned the highways portfolio in 1968 during controversy over land deals involving his sons and use of a government jet.

Opening the adjourned debate, NDP leader Dave Barrett renewed earlier charges that Premier W. A. C. Bennett had not kept a 1968 pledge that the government would acquire in advance land along new highways.

into existence, but the illusion will not fool those people who watched the performance of the former minister of highways, the interim minister of highways (Mr. Bennett) and subsequent events."

Mr. Barrett said all land beside new highways and on which "brand-new" values were created because of their location should be publicly owned.

"They should never be alienated by private group or individual because these land values have been created by the sweat, the toil and the taxes of the people of British Columbia and they have a right to share in those values."

ROOM FOR DOUBTS

After a three-year delay, he said, the house was being presented with nothing more than a half-measure "which still leaves room for doubts, for questions and for evaluations on a series of events that have transpired in this province."

Premier Bennett said Mr. Barrett should resign because he misled the house in claiming that the bill makes no reference to acquiring relocated highways.

Mr. Gaglardi told the house the opposition had misled it in claiming that a policy of controlling land at highway intersections never existed. He said this policy was in effect at the time he was in charge of the department.

If such land was inside a municipality, that municipality would be responsible for control and zoning. In other areas, the government was responsible.

Mr. Gaglardi also said there had been "tragic misleading" on the question of profits made by speculators from highways development.

"There is absolutely no record anywhere of these things being allowed at any time by this government."

The opposition is advocating, he said, that a "poor farmer" who may have owned land for years should not be allowed to sell it for profit and for capital gain.

PROFIT NOT LARGE

Mr. Gaglardi denied that speculators make large profits from land deals. He said by the time they have paid all development costs and federal taxes the profit is not substantial.

"All down through the years there has been a misleading presentation about people who deal in land. You would think all of them were nothing but a bunch of crooks."

"But in the final analysis they may have to purchase 50 pieces of land to make a profit on one."

Snow Blanket Hits Halifax

HALIFAX (CP) — Contracted snow-removal equipment, rising temperatures and the weight of rush-hour traffic combined to provide near-normal driving conditions here today despite an eight-inch snowfall and a city road crews strike.

The police department's traffic division said no serious tie-ups developed during the morning rush-hour, although there were problems at unsalted intersections.

Main routes were opened up by contracted equipment, and by mid-morning downtown streets were bare.

BOMB WATER SUPPLY

LURGAN (AP) — A bomb fractured a pipeline carrying water supplies to the Goodyear Tire Co.'s Northern Ireland plant Wednesday. Police said the supply would be disrupted for some days. Water pipelines have been targets for extremists on both sides of the country's Roman Catholic-Protestant feuding.

NEWS IN A MINUTE

Farmers 'Grow' A Brussels Battlefield

BRUSSELS (Reuter) — A six-hour riot by angry European farmers left the Belgian capital a battlefield today with the issue of price increases for farm produce still unsettled in Common Market ministerial talks.

Ex-RAF Sergeant Accused of Espionage

DONCASTER, England (Reuter) — A former RAF sergeant was accused in court today of betraying secret radar information to Czechoslovakia 10 years ago. The court was told that Nicholas Prager, 42, passed to agents secret details of a radar jammer used by British nuclear bombers.

New Bid Seen For U.S. To Quit S.E. Asia

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new bipartisan effort to get all U.S. troops out of Southeast Asia by the end of the year is in the works here and will be announced this week, it has been learned.

Environmental Moves Blasted

VICTORIA (CP) — Two bills designed to provide a system of ecological reserves in British Columbia and set up a government environment and land use committee were described as "hunkum-bunkum legislation" by opposition members in the legislature Tuesday.

Both bills received approval in principle, but before a lively debate in which a wide range of pollution and environmental problems were discussed.

Liberal leader Patrick McGeer said the bill to establish 100 ecological reserves in B.C. for study purposes was "a very nice piece of window dressing," but did little to preserve such areas since the cabinet could abolish any reserves it wanted.

Opposition Leader Dave Barrett said the bill establishing the committee to be composed entirely of cabinet ministers, "another piece of hunkum-bunkum legislation which shows this cabinet isn't going anywhere."

Several opposition members were critical of the fact that the new reserves and committee fell under the control of Ray Williston, minister of lands, forests and water resources, rather than Conservation Minister Ken Kiernan.

Since Mr. Williston is also responsible for the "exploitation" of B.C.'s resources, this would inevitably lead to conflict of interest, they argued.

Dr. McGeer said Mr. Williston had a "record of plunder" unmatched by any minister who has served the people of B.C.

Mr. Williston said part of the committee's function would be to arouse public concern over environmental issues and it would also hold investigations and public hearings on proposed developments before they are allowed to proceed. The committee, he said, had been functioning for the past year, but now would be legislated.

New Leader Of North Ireland Runs Into Immediate Trouble

BELFAST (AP) — Northern Ireland's first community relations minister, Dr. Robert Simpson, quit today while Prime Minister Brian Faulkner began crucial talks on forming his cabinet.

In a brief statement Simpson said he wished to return to his country medical practice but would continue to be a member of Parliament.

Informed sources said he was totally disillusioned with prospects of bettering relations in the community between Protestants and Roman Catholics.

Simpson, 48, was appointed community relations minister in September, 1969. The portfolio was part of a package of civil rights aimed at pacifying restive Catholics after explosions of sectarian violence.

BRIAN FAULKNER . . . early trouble same. He is known to believe that co-ordination with the British Army and government on security must be on the highest level.

Most interest centres on the development portfolio—the job Faulkner held under Chichester-Clark. The sensitive post of minister of community relations also is expected to be given to a new man.

If either of these positions went to a right winger, it would be considerable victory for the hardliners and would almost certainly spark a fresh round of minority Roman Catholic unrest.

STOCKS SLIP

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market, following its trend of the three previous sessions, slipped lower at the opening today.

Trade was moderately active.

Applications Flooding In For Ottawa Student Aid

MONTREAL (CP) — The federal government has already received so many applications for summer work projects "that we may have to refuse one out of every two or three," State Secretary Gerard Pelletier said Tuesday.

Mr. Pelletier, speaking at a Richelieu Club luncheon, said that although "the press and adults seem skeptical and distrustful, students are responding enthusiastically to the new plan and showing a great deal of initiative and imagination."

Prime Minister Trudeau announced the $31.8 million plan to create summer jobs and occupations for students last week.

The federal government will give financial assistance to communities organizing hostels and travel information bureaus. Several government departments are creating jobs and private enterprise will be encouraged to follow suit.

Mr. Pelletier said that with the advance of technology, the very jobs which used to occupy students are being eliminated.

"In a flourishing economy we can expect private enterprise to meet 80 or 90 per cent of the demand for summer jobs," he said.

Next CBC Step A Mediator . . .

TORONTO (CP) — A CBC spokesman said today that he expected the next step in a dispute between the corporation and its news reporters and editors across Canada "would be the appointment of a mediator for both parties."

The men, members of the Canadian Wire Service Guild, were legally free to strike at midnight Tuesday night.

Under present law, a juvenile delinquent may be anyone under 16 who violates a federal, provincial or municipal statute "or who is guilty of sexual immorality or any similar form of vice. . . ."

That covers just about everything from murder to raiding the apple orchard. Mr. Goyer adds that the tag "delinquent" is a blanket one as well.

Furthermore, he says, lack of legal protection in juvenile courts may mean abuse of rights.

SCOLDING AN OPTION

A scolding or an indefinite term in reformatory are among the options judges have.

"I've talked to lawyers who have told me of judges who forced kids to 'kiss the floor seven times and I might let you go.'"

The new act would provide numerous options, but it would apply only to offences under the Criminal Code. The age range would be 10 to 17, although Mr. Goyer finds 12 to 16 attractive as well.

The new bill got a chilly reception when it reached the second reading—approval in principle—stage in January, and was given a two-month respite. With debate resumed now, some amendments are seen likely.

Eldon Woolliams (P.C.-Calgary North) moved to look into the whole issue. He called the proposed law "punitive, enslaving, vicious and tyrannical."

"No one worries about these things very much until their own sons or daughters are involved," Mr. Woolliams said.

"Even if this were a good bill, we still do not have sufficient training schools to take care of the situation."

of mismanagement of the complex 84-clause bill.

Critics say an 11-year-old could conceivably be fingerprinted and photographed by police, need a lawyer and face a set term in reformatory.

For offences punishable by the death penalty or life in prison, youths could be put in reform school until 21, then taken before an adult court and tried—and sentenced to life.

This clause has drawn much fire. Mr. Goyer claims it is an improvement on the present law, in which juvenile court judges say they often feel it advisable to send a serious offender to trial in an adult court, where the maximum sentence must be imposed, rather than take a chance on him being freed at 21.

One fault, he admits, was lack of prior consultation with such bodies, resulting in a good deal

Sinatra Decides To Step Down After His Enriching Careers

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Frank Sinatra, the 55-year-old pop singer and actor, has decided to step down from his career in the entertainment world and public life.

The announcement comes four months after Warner Bros. studio said the singer-actor was forced to withdraw from a starring role in a movie because of persistent pain in the right hand.

Sinatra, 55, in a statement to the New York Daily News, said Tuesday his retirement is effective immediately, adding: "I look forward to enjoying more time with my family and dear friends, to writing a bit—perhaps even to teaching."

Sinatra underwent surgery on his hand last June for a condition known as Dupuytren's contracture, a shortening or distortion of muscular tissue in the palm and fingers. The surgery was successful, his doctor said, but the ailment is marked by a persistence of pain.

The pain caused Sinatra to quit the role in the Warner Bros. movie Dead Right which would have required great physical activity in the role of a tough policeman, the studio said. It was not immediately known whether the affliction ical activity in the role of a tough policeman, the studio said. It was not immediately known whether the affliction was a factor in Sinatra's retirement.

His stormy career included his reign as pop singing king, a dip in popularity, a movie Academy Award for a comeback performance in From Here to Eternity, romances galore, bouts with the law and the title of Mr. Show Business as the one of the most successful recording and nightclub artists in history.

His wives included actresses Ava Gardner and Mia Farrow. He made millions in show business, including record and music publishing, talent agencies, restaurants and hotels.

He owned interests in two Nevada casinos until the state took away his gambling licence, saying he had played host to an underworld figure.

His son Frank Jr. and daughter Nancy also made good as singers.

BETTER EDUCATED

TORONTO (CP) — Today's volunteer is better educated and has more skills to offer than the one 20 years ago, says a woman who has worked closely with volunteers for more than two decades. Stella Peake, who has just retired from the United Appeal for Metropolitan Toronto, says men and women now are volunteering their services in fields that weren't even considered open to "interested citizens" when she began her career in 1949.

Chedabucto Still Oily

PORT HAWKESBURY, N.S. (CP) — A survey of Nova Scotia's Chedabucto Bay, polluted by a tanker sinking more than a year ago, showed Tuesday there is still "quite a bit of oil" around the shoreline.

Dr. P. D. McTaggart-Cowan, director of a federal task force cleaning up the bay, said following a tour by helicopter that some of the oil had washed away in winter storms.

But he said the surf had taken oil from the rocks and washed it on to the community beaches cleaned by the task force last summer. He said the beaches would be cleaned again this spring.

The community beaches made up 25 to 30 miles of the 125 miles of shoreline polluted following the Feb. 4, 1970, grounding and sinking of the Liberian tanker Arrow just off Arichat, N.S.

The 11,379-ton Arrow was carrying a cargo of 3.8 million gallons of bunker C fuel oil at the time, more than half of which spilled into the bay. About 1.3 million gallons was pumped from the wreck by the task force.

NAMES IN NEWS

B.C. Prefers Clean Air To Refinery

Recreation Minister Ken Kierman said Tuesday he believes the greatest single factor in precluding the establishment of a copper refinery in British Columbia is that "we are not prepared to accept the degree of pollution of the air" it would create.

In Vancouver Mr. Kierman was commenting in a speech prepared for the Canadian Electrical Association convention, read by his administrative assistant, John Buckley.

"Undoubtedly such a refinery would create jobs," he said. "Undoubtedly, too, it would create pollution to the atmosphere in the area of its location and so once again we come face to face with the clash between the desirability of better economic recovery from our natural resources."

Mr. Kierman said hydro-electric power generation would probably be the key industry in B.C.'s future.

In Amherst, N.S., two youths were sentenced to a total of 12 years in prison when they appeared in court Tuesday for wilfully setting fire to the home of the town police chief, Ronald Arsenault, 20, of Amherst, was sentenced to serve seven years, and Thomas Brander, 20, of Shubenacadie, N.S., was sentenced to five years. Both pleaded guilty.

A coroner's jury found Tuesday in Langley that Patricia Louise Totten, alias Wells, 28, died from a massive overdose of morphine administered by a person or persons unknown. The jury was told the woman, whose body was found in bushland near the 401 freeway had died three to five months prior to discovery of the body.

The bodies of Joseph Phillip James Durand and Judith Ann Terry Murray, both 24, were found Tuesday in a parked car at Surrey. Police said the couple, both from Delta, probably died of carbon monoxide poisoning. The motor of the car was still running when it was discovered in a side street.

Canada's prohibition on supersonic flights over her territory has not been distributed formally but the Canadian position was "generally known" among other nations, Transport Minister Don Jamieson said Tuesday in Ottawa.

John Young, chairman of the federal prices and incomes commission, warned Tuesday in Ottawa that a revival of price inflation is distinctly possible later this year. Further, he said, there is no longer any assurance that current expansion of productive activity, even if it led to inflation again, would cure unemployment.

Jean Roy, Liberal MP for Timmins, said Tuesday night that a March 14 CBC program on mid-Canada was a dishonest distortion of fact. He said in a Commons debate that the program was done by a researcher, newly arrived in Canada, who had "a large booze consumption." The views of responsible citizens of the mid-Canada area were not carried; instead the researcher was looking for drunks.

Cranbrook court was told Tuesday of Dale Merle Nelson's purchases of liquor and ammunition the day before eight persons—five children and three adults—were killed in south-eastern British Columbia. The 31-year-old resident of West Creston, is on trial for non-capital murder in the Sept. 5, 1970, slaughter in the West Creston area. Nine witnesses testified Tuesday, the second day of the trial, about their encounters with Nelson Sept. 4 after he travelled from West Creston to Creston about noon, taking a ferry crossing over the Kootenay River.

A fight described as savage and brutal turned St. Paul's Hospital emergency ward at midnight last Sept. 2 into "complete bedlam," an Assize Court jury was told Tuesday in Vancouver. Even the janitor's floor mop got into the fray. Charged with attempted murder as a result of the fight are brothers Daniel and Pano Ceklay. They are alleged to have made an attempt on the life of nightclub bouncer Nick Cimmarusti who had gone to the hospital earlier with head wounds which followed an earlier fight with the two accused at a Vancouver night club.

Coup Bid Fails In Sierra Leone

FREETOWN, Sierra Leone (AP) — An attempted coup by the army commander in this West African nation apparently failed when other senior army officers arrested him and announced they were keeping Prime Minister Siaka P. Stevens in office.

The army's third in command, Lt.-Col. Sam King, said in a broadcast late Tuesday night that a majority of the country's 1,500-man army dissociated themselves from Brig. John Bangura's attempt to seize power.

"We regard the present government of Prime Minister Siaka Stevens as the legally constituted authority in the country," King said.

There was no word from Stevens himself. Army sources said earlier he was being held in protective custody; where was not disclosed.

Everest Climbers At First Base

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — The 13-nation Mount Everest expedition pitched base camp Tuesday at 17,700 feet, its first main target on the journey up the world's highest mountain.

Norman Dyhrenfurth, the 52-year-old Swiss-American leader of the expedition, said he and his 28 other climbers would set out soon to pitch their first high-altitude camp at 20,000 feet. They hope to reach the 29,028-foot summit of Everest by May 13.

Minors On The Premises Case Put Over To April

A charge against the Royal Anne Hotel, of permitting persons apparently under the age of 19 years to enter the licensed premises, was remanded to April 29 by Judge D. M. White in provincial court today.

The remand was granted because a similar charge against the Capri Motor Hotel opened last week and was remanded to April 27. A date for hearing the case against the Royal Anne will be set when the Capri matter finishes.

A Kelowna youth, Neil David Fipke, pleaded not guilty to taking a car without the consent of the owner March 7 in Kelowna, and his trial was set for April 22. He elected trial by county court judge on two charges of break, enter and theft, and the preliminary hearing was set for May 4.

Judge White refused a request by a truck driver charged with driving with more than .08 per cent alcohol in his blood to retain his driver's licence for work.

Norman Zittlau of Kelowna was charged early this morning when his van was seen on Highway 97 near Kelowna. He pleaded guilty, was fined $200 and lost his licence for six months.

Charged with the same offence this morning near Kelowna, Lawrence Louis Gosselin of Kelowna pleaded not guilty. Trial was set for 9:30 a.m. Friday.

A Kelowna man who said he was "pretty drunk" when he broke a window in the city drunk tank early this morning was fined $100 and ordered to pay for the window, about $2, after pleading guilty to destroying city property.

George Stewart was arrested about 11:50 p.m. Tuesday on Pandosy Street following a complaint about drunks on the street.

John Walter Wall of Kelowna pleaded guilty to driving a car without public liability or property damage insurance Feb. 27 on Highway 6 near Vernon, but presented a letter from an insurance agent stating he had tried to get insurance.

The judge fined him $200. A charge against Gerald Harries of Penticton for operating a business in Kelowna without a licence was remanded until March 31. Harries was to have been in court today, but his lawyer said he had to go to Vancouver last weekend and was in an accident.

Viking Ship Set For Tour

A Scandinavian tour is in the offing for a full-scale replica of a Viking ship built by the Gordon Jennens family of Kelowna.

The tour, and ocean cruise are still in the planning stages with details to be announced at a later date, Mrs. Jennens said today.

Unveiled in Kelowna April 25, 1970, the craft will retrace Viking voyages in the North Atlantic.

As yet, it is unknown if the ship will leave from Vancouver or Halifax.

If Halifax is the site, a national tour may be the next step.

The family began shaping the ship by hand in 1965 from 30 tons of oak logs.

Everything from planking to forging the rivets to caulking with horsehair was done by hand, following the authenticity of the Vikings.

Even the wooden sail was woven by hand.

The craft is powered by 24 oars and an international crew is to sail the craft.

SEEN and HEARD

Rumor has it several city lawyers will be taking part in the Kelowna Boys' Club centennial walkathon Saturday... a move which wouldn't necessarily be calculated toward the good graces of Judge D. M. White who is president of the club.

"Deer aho," was the cry of an Ellis Street resident who this morning noticed one of the creatures running past her home.

Calling all male hair stylists. How the devil does the devil style his beard. Damn Yankees.

continuing today at the Kelowna Community Theatre, has a make-up consultant who can't recall ever having such an "infernal" client. The show by Kelowna Musical Productions, began Tuesday and runs to Saturday.

Humorous marquees abound in the city and district to the alert observer. One local drive-in movie last week was advertising a double bill featuring "How much loving does a normal couple need" plus an added attraction called "Women and temptation."

... Sunny

Skies will be sunny Thursday morning, clouding over by noon. Winds will be brisk southerly in main valleys.

Tuesday's high was 42, the low 33 with .08 inches precipitation. Low tonight and high Thursday will be 28 and 45.

ACTION NOT TAKEN

A stay of proceedings has been entered for charges against Ron Lessard and Rudy Schoenfeld of Kelowna. The pair were charged with breaking and entering.

Walkathon Officials Issue Reminders For Sunday Walk

Participants in the Kelowna Boys' Club sponsored 20-mile walkathon Sunday, are reminded to do their "best" to have their pledge cards filled as much as possible.

The walkathon committee also stresses walkers make certain they have the yellow duplicate copy of their pledge cards when they report to the arena parking lot at 8 a.m., an important detail since the sheet must be turned in to get a check point card at the registration desk.

Other pertinent reminders include: make sure you follow the route and have your check card stamped at every check point; have your check point card signed by a Boys' Club official at the completion of the walk at the registration desk; remember you are responsible for collecting pledge money from your own sponsors, funds to be handed in at the Centennial Hall, April 4, between 9 a.m. and 4 p.m., together with the pink slip which walkers must retain.

"We, the Boys' club, thank you for your co-operation and participation," says president D. M. White, who bids all participants to "have a good walk."

Money raised in the walkathon will go toward the club's building fund for construction of a $100,000 gym and clubhouse. The organization currently has $24,000 earmarked for the project, and hopes the walkathon will swell the club coffers considerably.

So far, about 1,275 pledges have been distributed, and the club hopes to have more than 800 walkers in the 20-mile fund-raising hike.

Today is the last day pledges may be obtained from walkathon committee chairman Wayne Bedford, who can be contacted at 2-0727.

22 Dead In Okanagan Mishaps According To Health Report

Resident highway accidents continued to be the leading cause of death in the Okanagan last year.

According to the 42nd annual report of the South Okanagan Health Unit, there were 22 vehicle fatalities in 1970, a decrease of one over 1969.

In the whole health unit area, there were 71 accidental deaths last year for a fatality rate of nearly 90 people per 100,000 population, compared to 50 deaths in 1969 for a rate of 63.3 per 100,000 population.

In the whole of the province, there were 1,595 deaths at a rate of 75 per 100,000 population.

Most accident-prone age group in 1969-70 in the vehicular category was in the 19 and 20 to 39 year old population, with six deaths in each. This compared with eight and five in 1969 in the respective age groups.

There were five deaths each in the 40 to 49 and 60 and over age group last year, compared with three and seven fatalities in these respective age groups.

Eleven deaths accrued from single-car accidents, seven from two-car accidents, two involving pedestrians and two from other causes.

Suicides and homicides contributed the second highest fatality cause, with 22 of the former and two of the latter recorded in the Okanagan during the comparison period.

Highest number was recorded last year in the 20 to 39, and 40 to 59 year old age groups at eight each compared with one and five in the respective groups.

Seven deaths were recorded in the 60 and over age groups last year, compared with four in 1969.

Falls in those age groups contributed to two deaths last year in the 60 and over category, equalling last year's total. One death each in the 19 and 20 to 39 age groups last year brought the number to four deaths, compared with two in 1969.

There were five aircraft and one industrial death in the Okanagan in 1970, compared with two industrial and no aircraft fatalities in 1969.

For the same comparison period, there were 24 non-resident fatalities in the health unit region in 1970, compared with 25 deaths in 1969. Again the leading cause was vehicular at 12, with burns and aircraft deaths taking second and third place causes.

Questions Answered For Tax Returns

April 30 is the deadline for filing that 1970 income tax return, and to help readers with some of the more common problems associated with the annual chore, the Penticton branch of national revenue, taxation division, has prepared the following answers to the most asked questions.

Q. I contribute, at my place of employment, to a pension plan. However, as I want to have a larger pension when I retire I have also taken a retirement savings plan with a trust company. What is the maximum contribution that I can claim on my income tax form for both of them?

A. As an employee you will be allowed to deduct your contributions to the pension plan and your registered retirement savings plan up to a total of $1,500, or 20 per cent of your earned income if it is less than $7,500.

Q. I am self-employed and I pay into a retirement savings plan with an insurance company. I have no salary income whatsoever and understand that I can claim for income tax purposes a maximum of $2,500 for my retirement plan. Is this correct?

A. If you are not covered by an employee pension plan you would be entitled to claim amounts paid into a registered retirement savings plan up to $2,500, or 20 per cent of your earned income for the year, whichever is less.

Q. For income tax purposes, are fees to fraternal societies and service clubs deductible?

A. Fees paid to fraternal societies and service clubs are not deductible from income.

Q. I understand that only a portion of my union dues is allowed as deductible from my income tax. How do I know how much I can pay for union dues, and how do I know what is allowable deduction?

A. Your union should inform you of the amount you can claim for your union dues, by giving you a receipt to file with your income tax return.

LIONS CLUB HOPEFUL

Lucky 13, the last of the Lady of the Lake candidates, is 17-year-old Jeanie Ratcliffe, a hazel-eyed, brown haired beauty flying the Kelowna Lions Club colors. Born in Vernon, Jeanie has been in Kelowna for the past nine years and is a Grade 11 student at Immaculate High School. Secretary of the school's United Nations and the Jeunesses Musicales, Jeanie is also a member of the Annual Club and holds the title, Miss Donette. She was elected president of her class this year for the third time running, and last year won the Father Goddard Citizenship Award for scholastic activity. The five foot seven, 130-pound candidate, who is undecided about a career, likes basketball, swimming, tennis and water and snow skiing. She also likes cooking and "collecting stuffed animals." Her first experience as a Lady of the Lake candidate, Jeanie says she is "looking forward" to the contest. She is the daughter of Mrs. Margaret Ratcliffe, 1852 Bowes St. Standing behind Jeanie is Lions Club candidate committee chairman, Richard Longman, who thinks his club has a "winner."

WRONG NAME

Wrong name, wrong place. It was reported Tuesday a tape recorder was taken from a car owned by Rod Rempel parked at Kelowna Secondary School. The owner's name is Rempel, and the car was at Kelowna Central Elementary School.

Car Thief At Work

Bruce Denneous of Winfield said his car was taken Tuesday morning from the Royal Anne Hotel in Kelowna. The 1969 light blue Firebird has B.C. licence KBC-092.

A chain saw was reported taken from Big Chief Sales and Rental Ltd. on Highway 97 N. Tuesday. This and an attempted break-in reported Tuesday morning at the One Hour Martinizing store in the Southgate shopping centre, in which nothing was taken, are still under investigation.

Two youths missing from Sidney, Vancouver Island, were apprehended here this morning.

Grant Pleases Regatta Group

The Kelowna Regatta Association is pleased with the $3,500 grant given it by the city.

Council approved the grant Monday.

Glenn Lawrence, Regatta's director-general, said the association was pleased with the grant.

"As far as Regatta is concerned, we've had nothing but co-operation from the city," he said.

The association had asked the city for $3,500, which included $1,000 for promotion outside the area; $2,000 for the float expenses and $500 for the Lady of the Lake.

Instead, council cutback $500 from the float expenses and earmarked that money to host Calgary as the proposed honor city at this year's Regatta.

The Regatta grant is part of a $26,152 budget for visitor service and city representation approved Monday.

Accidents Reported

Damage was estimated at $2,300 in a three-vehicle crash on Highway 97 between Westbank and Kelowna Monday afternoon. Drivers were identified as Wesley Taylor of Rutland, Siegfried Scherle of Okanagan Mission, and William Donald Teal of Peachland.

Vehicles driven by Dennis Mack and Joseph Dull, both of Kelowna, crashed about the same time at High Road and Glenmore Drive. Damage estimate was $500.

There were no serious injuries in either accident.

ROUTINE CALLS

Only minor activity was reported by the Kelowna Fire Department Tuesday, with six routine ambulance calls handled by the emergency unit.

END OF A SUCCESSFUL SEASON

The 1971 Immaculate senior girls' basketball team returned home from the four-day B.C. girls' basketball tournament in Victoria during the weekend, after finishing sixth among 16 teams participating. The girls had the most successful season in the history of the school, winning the Valley A championship, placing third in the Okanagan

Back: Irene Lanzinger, Diane Henderson (manager), Glenda Kinney, Fran Walla, Marilyn Gregory, Nick Manduc (coach). Missing: Kathy and Paula Thorburn.

DAMN YANKEES THEME:

MUSICALLY SPEAKING

You Gotta Have Heart

By BETHEL STEELE

This year's Kelowna Musical Productions presentation might be called the company's country cousin. And yet it needn't be, for basically, Damn Yankees, the story taken from a novel, The Year the Yankees Lost the Pennant, is a good show. It has everything in it—mainly the Faust theme. Joe Boyd, a Washington Senators baseball club fan, sells himself to Applegate, the devil, in order to become a young and great ballplayer who leads his team to victory. How Joe as the young Hardy saves his soul is all part of the mosaic of the musical complete with love theme and clever comedy twist.

The original show ran for 1,022 performances. Not bad, but not good either in comparison with other musical hits of later years. In any case it deserves better treatment from the public than it received for its opening last night. Make no mistake, this company, KMP, while serving itself in the fun of production is also serving the community at large in providing entertainment. Damn Yankees is a good entertainment. The audience present received it with enthusiasm and thorough enjoyment.

The music itself is difficult since it swings while it dreams—there are some lovely moments in it. The choruses are splendidly choreographed and blend. The dancing is eye catching as usual although the lighting for the night club sequence was weak. I had such hopes for the spot and the show.

We had many wonderful moments and the pit orchestra with Robin Jarman at the helm was superb although my ear could do with fewer decibels in the brass.

flu over the last two weeks and have attended rehearsals until unable to carry on. Several still had bad throats last night—Mary Sullivan couldn't sing and Jean-Louis, bless him, carried on without her.

There are plenty of faults. Perhaps because of a lack of realization of the possibilities inherent in what has been called a mosaic of Byzantine grandeur. Musicals must be a feast for the eye before they ever attempt to feast the ear. The one unfolds from the other. And this show has to have a feeling of perpetual motion. A breathless pace from beginning to end if it is going to achieve the feast it was intended to be.

We had many wonderful moments and the pit orchestra with Robin Jarman at the helm was superb although my ear could do with fewer decibels in the brass.

Henry and Rocky just about steal it all with their superlative projection. Miss Weston is lovely satire—thanks Lucinda. Ian Midler is a fine devil although he sustains much better with a partner in crime. Zannetta Varley as Lola the witch is most seductive and Terry O'Malley is a true barefoot country boy turned ballplayer. He is Joe Hardy and sings sweetly as only an Irishman can. Wilma Hartley's fine singing blends well with Bob Emalle and Terry O'Malley. Lynn Vaughan as Gloria has a fine number with the baseball team. Shoeless Joe from Hannibal Mo-

In particular, of the musical numbers, I liked Whatever Lola Wants as sung by Lola and Le-lieve me the song You've Gotta Have Heart could go down as being the theme song of the country as a whole. Lorne Stanfield as Sister and the Cheer Squad really belted it out. Those Stanfields are a fine welcome to Kelowna.

No Peace In Middle East

Egypt's refusal to extend the ceasefire with Israel may be, as President Nixon said the other night, just the opening round in an escalation of rhetoric that will continue for some time.

Mr. Nixon seemed to think that hostilities would not be resumed because the United States and the Soviet Union were exerting a "restraining influence" on the protagonists. Such assurances are good to hear but they would be much more comforting if the rest of the world were certain not only that Egypt and Israel are controllable but also that Moscow does want an easing of tension in the area.

The Israeli-Arab conflict gave the Soviet Union the opportunity to gain a foothold in the Middle East. Whether the Russians would be able to maintain their position after a peace settlement is open to question. The Egyptians would want to reassert their sovereignty and would be helped to do so by the United States, which would like to be free to give aid in order to repair American-Arab relations and also to blunt Soviet influence.

It has also been argued that Moscow prefers to keep the Middle East situation simmering because it promotes divisions within the United States and diverts Washington's attention and energies from other international problems.

Other observers, however, believe the Soviet Union is resigned to the fact that the Egyptians are no match for the Israelis militarily and would settle for a peace treaty that would reopen the Suez Canal giving the Soviet fleet direct access to the Indian Ocean.

Whatever the case, Egyptian President Sadat's decision (made after consultation with Moscow) to end the ceasefire has predictably lent an air of urgency to the negotiations and placed added pressure on Israel to compromise.

Critics, including United Nations Secretary-General U Thant, have asked Israel to "respond favorably" to UN intermediary Gunnar Jarring's request for a commitment to withdraw to the international boundary of the United Arab Republic. To complaints that Israel was being intransigent, Foreign Minister Abba Eban angrily denied his country did not want peace, and revealed Israel's offer to move to "detailed and concrete" negotiations with Egypt. However, the offer also stated that Israel would not withdraw to the pre June 5, 1967, lines.

This was unnecessarily stating the obvious. It would perhaps have been more conducive to getting peace talks started if Israel had made the concession of saying it would pull back its forces to "defensible borders" and detailing them.

Egypt has demanded a total withdrawal, but Mr. Sadat knows Israel has no intention of going back to the old lines.

The Israelis argue that it would be suicide to give back strategic positions which would endanger the security of Israel. The Arabs argue that Israel is not so much concerned about security as it is about gaining territory, some now and more later.

On the one issue—complete withdrawal—there seems little room for compromise. Yet, if both sides were earnestly seeking peace a settlement could be found.

Israel, for instance, could retain vital military areas but, as part of the peace pact, offer to return them to Egypt after, say, 30 years. That would safeguard Israel's security and at the same time provide proof to the Arabs that permanent land acquisition is not part of Israel's foreign policy.

After 30 years, surely, the Arabs and Israelis will have learned to live together peacefully — assuming, of course, that the Russians give them a chance to do so.

NEWS ANALYSIS

Hanoi Engaged In Propaganda

By PHILIP DEANE
Foreign Affairs Analyst

The State Department has declared that Hanoi is engaged in a propaganda exercise to create the impression that China would give North Vietnam more support than will actually be the case. This would seem to be a hasty and possibly unwarranted conclusion.

A Chinese army actually fighting in the field in Laos or Cambodia is unlikely; the Korean precedent will not be repeated unless the U.S. lands troops in North Vietnam and this seems highly unlikely. But anything short of that is quite possible.

If U.S. air attacks on North Vietnam become more frequent, it should surprise no one to see entire units of Chinese anti-aircraft artillery crossing the border and undertaking the defence of North Vietnam's major cities, releasing thus the North Vietnamese anti-aircraft units for duty nearer the front. The Chinese demonstrated in Korea that they are great road and bridge builders, expert in restoring a bridge to service in the shortest possible time after it has been hit. Chinese transportation units may also cross the border and begin operating intensively within North Vietnam, thereby freeing North Vietnamese manpower for other needs.

North Vietnam has manpower problems; however exaggerated one might think the American air force communicates—and they were certainly grossly exaggerated in Korea, as I can testify from personal inspection — the fact remains that North Vietnam has been fighting for 25 years or more and has lost in that time hundreds of thousands of people.

Family life has been disrupted because of conscription—both military and industrial. Wives and husbands have been separated and the birth rate has suffered. There have been deaths through starvation because of the defoliation raids and the bombing of dykes in North Vietnam.

That the North Vietnamese government would want manpower help from China is only natural. If the North Vietnamese are going to make an all out effort to show that Mr. Nixon's Vietnamization policy cannot succeed, they may expect to be hit very hard by the U.S. air force. They will, therefore, need to revise their estimates of needed supplies, of vehicles. Since they would rely on their supplies overland from China if the Americans destroy the North Vietnamese harbors, the Hanoi leaders need to discuss with the Chinese at the highest level, the measures to take to make sure that supplies keep flowing no matter what. Chou En Lai was the man with whom the discussions had to be held.

Only the site of the discussion—Hanoi rather than Peking—was a propaganda move.

Ottawa Office Unlikely Site For HQ In Assisting India

OTTAWA (CP) — Modern offices overlooking the Rideau River might seem an unlikely command post for a crusade against poverty in rural India.

In fact, they mesh with the spirit of a new venture in international aid operations.

The new venture is the International Development Research Centre of Canada, created last year by Parliament. Its purpose is to direct scientific and technical skills to the towering economic problems facing Asia, Africa and Latin America.

The atmosphere crackles with purpose and vitality, appropriate to the "lean and highly professional program group" that president William David Hopper wants to run the centre.

Mr. Hopper, 43, a specialist in agricultural economics, cultural anthropology and international economics, personifies the centre's style of restless zeal.

NOT TIMID PEOPLE

"My colleagues and I are not timid people," the chief executive officer told the first meeting of the centre's 21-member, international board of governors last October.

We will not be afraid to use the mallet and chisel to sculpture the shape that will be known as the International Development Research Centre.

A native of Ottawa, graduate of McGill University's Macdonald College and of Cornell University, Mr. Hopper spent almost 10 years in India on agricultural research and development programs.

He emphasizes rural development in setting priorities for the $50 million the government has promised the centre in its first five years of operation.

"If you move into the problems of the urban conglomerate, you can spend money like water," says the trim, energy-charged president.

FOCUS IS ON JOBS

One focus will be on providing jobs, perhaps through development of cottage industries, for the millions of landless peasants untouched and unaided by the so-called "green revolution" in moisture-rich areas of the underdeveloped world.

"Too often in the two-decade history of international development, the share of the poor in progress is reckoned zero," says Mr. Hopper.

Another focus is on raising dry-land farming output, which Mr. Hopper believes has been heavily neglected by international development planning.

Canada's own domestic experience may be used to help landless peasants living perennially at a bare subsistence level.

Through scientific research and experimentation, the centre president notes, the wheat yield in dry areas of Saskatchewan has leapt to 20 bushels per acre from 13 since the Second World War.

"The kind of problems we want to get at are not unique to any particular country," he adds.

The essence of the centre's objective is "to assist the developing regions to build up the research capabilities, the innovative skills and the institutions required to solve their problems."

Strategy is to establish partnerships between universities and other institutions in the developed countries and those in the developing countries, aimed at facilitating a flow of scientific knowledge and expertise from one to the other.

"We will be responsive to their priorities and their feel for their own problems."

In this way, it is hoped to help overcome complaints from developing nations that they are invariably cast in the role of junior partner in research relationships.

Mr. Hopper notes that the report of a World Bank commission headed by former prime minister Lester Pearson—now chairman of the IDRC board—identified weakening enthusiasm among countries contributing development aid.

"I am sure the commission also encountered an 'aid weariness' among the recipients. It is a weariness born of being too long a supplicant suffering the donor's quiet arrogance and his implicit denial of sovereign equality."

MAY GO ABROAD

Headquarters here include four program directors—in population and health sciences, food and nutrition, information, and special projects in the social and physical sciences.

There also are a specialist in animal health and production and an associate program director for science policy. Soon on staff will be a specialist in nutrition and home economics, and one in demography. Counting support personnel, the present staff totals about 40.

When it gets into full operation the headquarters office will have 20 to 25 professionals plus support staff. In addition, some professional personnel may be assigned to other parts of Canada or abroad.

Does such a group with its limited financial backing really stand a chance of denting the mammoth problems of poverty, hunger and malnutrition that afflict the underdeveloped world?

"Yes," says Mr. Hopper, "if we are selective and if we use our resources in a way that augments the development programs of the nations themselves—and if we are successful in giving priority to those problems that will yield to the partnership structure."

North Ireland's New Prime Minister Retains Trust On Both Sides Of Fence

BELFAST (Reuter) —

Brian Faulkner elected Tuesday as Northern Ireland's prime minister, is an agile politician who managed to retain trust among militant Protestants while pushing through reforms to please the Roman Catholic minority.

In the troubles of the last two years, Faulkner has managed to maintain links on both sides of the political fence.

Until about two years ago he had a reputation as a Protestant hardliner. It was under such a label that he put himself forward as a candidate to become prime minister after the resignation of Capt. Terence O'Neill in April, 1969.

Faulkner lost that contest by one vote to James Chichester-Clark, then regarded as the more moderate of the two.

In the Chichester-Clark government, Faulkner became minister of development and in that office he has managed to soften his reputation as a hardliner.

One of his tasks has been to push through reforms demanded by Catholic civil rights groups such as the institution of one-man-one vote in local elections and the introduction of more impartiality into housing allocations.

Although he has always advocated a measure of liberalism, Faulkner is known to be a strong believer in enforcing strict law and order among both sides in Northern Ireland.

Born in February, 1921, Faulkner entered the Northern Ireland Parliament at the age of 28—the youngest man ever to sit there. He became chief whip in 1959, and home affairs minister.

His most spectacular performance was as commerce minister, a job he took over in 1963. Under Faulkner's guidance, unemployment in Northern Ireland fell to five from 10 per cent.

Faulkner resigned as commerce minister in January, 1969, following disagreement with O'Neill over matters of method.

He said at the time that if he took over as prime minister he would want to carry on with civil rights reforms and that he would not be prepared to lead a right-wing administration.

Ban Supersonic Transport

(Victoria Colonist)

Five state legislatures in the United States now have proposals before them to ban the supersonic transport—mostly by setting noise limits below the level of the SST. The proposals are not aimed alone at the Anglo-French Concorde, which is growing close to going into production, but at continued work on the development of a U.S. rival, both bigger and faster.

The possibility is raised, as we remarked recently, that laws on noise levels barring supersonic jets from airports might also turn away the jumbo jets, the 707s and the VC-10s—which might please anti-noise-pollutionists but could cause havoc in the U.S. airline industry.

But more ironic, it seems there might be some chance that noise-level legislation based on current data would effectively ban these subsonic aircraft but fail to catch the Concorde in its net because of improvement in the latter's performance.

For every argument against the supersonics the co-developers of the Concorde have an answer, and the latest in regard to noise is that the results to date of a major noise reduction program have encouraged the British Aircraft Corporation and Aerospatiale to believe that when the Concorde enters service it will be no worse than aircraft now in service, better than many of them and acceptable to the appropriate authorities.

The builders cite three factors "which should enable Concorde to generate less noise and disturb fewer people than the 707-DC 8 generation of subsonic aircraft that it will in many instances replace." These are that the silencers which the Concorde will be using when it enters service show a major advance over those used in subsonic jets; that a new variable-geometry nozzle and thrust reverser will provide a reduction in sideline noise, and that the aircraft's extremely high thrust to weight ratio can put it higher over the airport boundary at take-off than subsonic planes, while it can land at a steeper glide angle, thus promising to make a much shorter noise "foot print" at most airports.

As for the other noise aspect of the SST—sonic boom—the answer is that "Concorde market forecasts have always assumed a worldwide ban on supersonic flight over populated areas," and that flights between the east and west coasts of this continent would be flown significantly below boom-producing speeds — "Even so, Concorde should clip an estimated 50 minutes from the subsonic jet's New York-Los Angeles time."

Over 400 people were unable to get in, and a second meeting was addressed by Mr. Bennett later that evening.

Scientists Find A New Weapon Against Scourge Of Hepatitis

NEW YORK (Reuter) — Scientists have found a way to immunize people against serum hepatitis that may control the disease in the way the Salk vaccine virtually ended polio, it was announced today.

The New York University Medical Centre said it considered the work of Prof. Saul Krugman and two associates to be "a significant accomplishment toward the development of a vaccine for the control of the disease, much as poliomyelitis has been controlled by vaccines."

Hepatitis is a virus-caused disease, attacking the liver and causing jaundice, nausea, weakness and other symptoms.

Prof. Krugman, chairman of the department of pediatrics at the medical centre, disclosed his findings at a lecture here today.

Serum hepatitis is an inflammation of the liver caused by transfusion of contaminated blood or plasma and by the use of poorly sterilized hypodermic needles and other medical equipment. It can also be passed on by an infected person.

It is distinguished from infectious hepatitis which is caused by contaminated food and water.

Prof. Krugman said recent observations by his team, which has been studying hepatitis since 1956, indicated that the boiling for one minute of serum made from the MS-2 (serum hepatitis) strain of virus destroyed the substance's ability to infect without affecting its ability to stimulate production of antibodies against the disease.

The scientist said his team had been successful in fighting the disease by both active immunization—the injection of a virus into a body which then produces antibodies—and passive immunization—the direct injection of antibodies.

Active immunization, he said, was induced by the inoculation of a boiled preparation of MS-2 serum in distilled water.

Two inoculations were more effective than one but one inoculation gave enough protection to prevent some cases and modify others. Those receiving two injections of the boiled serum were not only protected against hepatitis but they also developed antibodies against the disease.

The studies were conducted with a comparatively small number of participants and further testing is necessary, he added.

MR. AND MRS. VICTOR W. COWLEY

Diamond Anniversary For Victor Cowleys

A quiet family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Carson Weisbeck, Deighton Road, marked the 60th anniversary of Mrs. Weisbeck's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Victor W. Cowley of Richter Street on Monday.

Present for the evening were their son William Cowley and Mrs. Cowley; a grandson, Robert Cowley and Mrs. Cowley, all of Vernon, as well as the four Weisbeck children. Gifts were presented and a highlight of the evening was a telephone call from their son Victor of Toronto.

Congratulatory messages were received from Her Majesty the Queen, Lieut.-Governor John Nicholson and Premier W.

A. C. Bennett, among other good wishes from family and friends. Flowers were also received by the happy couple who retired to Kelowna in 1946 from Wainwright, Alta.

Mr. and Mrs. Cowley were married in England on March 2, 1911, when they were both 23 years. They came to Winnipeg in September of that year and subsequently lived at Edmonton in 1912 and moved to Hardisty a few months later, where Mr. Cowley, a baker, bought a bakery.

In 1924 they decided to return to England. They sold the bakery and enjoyed a leisurely sight seeing tour enroute to Montreal, motoring via North Portal, Minot, St. Paul, Chicago, Detroit, Windsor, Toronto and Niagara Falls and back to Ottawa. They spent five days at Montreal before boarding the boat for Southampton, England.

After one year they came back to Canada, bought a bakery at Viking and in 1928 purchased the Wainwright bakery, where they remained until moving to beautiful British Columbia.

They have two sons, Victor and William; four grandsons, three granddaughters and four great grandsons and two great granddaughters.

At 83 they are both active and enjoy their own cosy little bungalow and garden.

Extended Care Unit Has Three-Fold Function

Lois Berry, supervisor of extended care at the Kelowna General Hospital was guest speaker at the March meeting of the Kelowna Hospital Auxiliary. Miss Berry spoke to the members about Block C, the Extended Care Unit which was opened in early December, 1970. This unit is now full with 70 patients and most of them are either middle-aged or elderly.

In order to gain admission in the centre a patient must be incapable of independent mobilization, they must need supervised 24 hour nursing care and also they do not need the facilities of the acute hospital.

The functions for this unit are three-fold: firstly, the need to develop the patient's potential of rehabilitation with the aim to make them as independent as possible. Secondly to help the patient cope with his disability and lastly to involve the patient with his family and community. Because of this latter function, the visiting hours are from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m. and children of any age are welcomed.

Every morning four volunteers work from 10 a.m. to 12 noon. Candy strippers work on the unit from 4 to 6 p.m. Volunteers also do hairdressing and haircuts.

The function of the arts and crafts program is to develop hobbies and to develop stimulation of interest in them. Volunteers also work on this program with the patients.

Besides this program there are organized games and it is not unusual to visit the unit and see wheel chair patients enjoying a game of bowling; often times male patients versus female patients.

Birthday parties have been organized honoring a patient with a cake and gifts. Hopefully, Miss Berry plans on having occasional tea parties organized by a community club.

During Christmas time there were many clubs who visited the unit and sang carols. The patients enjoy live entertainment so much; if there is any organization which wishes to entertain, they may contact Mrs.

Len Leathley at 762-4000. There is now a piano available in the ward.

Miss Berry also mentioned the need for bedsocks that can be washed. Many patients could knit their own if wool was supplied.

Besides the gift shop in the main entrance of the hospital, the auxiliary also runs a shop in the extended care unit. This shop is open from 2 to 4 p.m. The hours of the main gift shop are from 10 a.m. to 8:30 p.m. The mobile gift shop which the volunteers manage for patients in the hospital operates every day except Sunday.

CHARITY DANCE Mrs. R. M. Turik, convener of the charity dance held at the Rutland Centennial hall on March 5 reported a successful dance with a profit of $770. She thanked her committee, the auxiliary members and the general public for their support.

Once again the auxiliary will be having their book and record sale in the fall. The dates for this event will be Oct. 15 and 16. The convener for this popular event is Mrs. G. W. Thorkelson. Anyone wishing to donate books or records now should contact Mrs. Thorkelson at 764-4863 for pickups. Convener is Mrs. Richard Longman.

DOES THE HIGH COST OF DYING OFFEND YOU?

Are you one of the thoughtful ones who is concerned that your relatives may be swept with emotion into paying hundreds too much for your funeral, when such money could be put to far better use among the living? Are you disturbed by costly caskets, displaying of remains, etc.? Would you like to sit down in complete privacy with a form we will mail you, and record NOW exactly what type of funeral or memorial service you would like... whether you would like to donate your eyes or other tissue to help the living? Would you like to see MAXIMUM funeral costs in print, instead of MINIMUMS? This is not a society for the poor. It is a society for the THOUGHTFUL in all walks of life. ## 'B.C. Is A Garden' Is Theme For Fall Horticultural

B.C. is a garden, is the theme chosen for the annual fall convention of the Okanagan Valley Horticultural Association to be hosted by Kelowna and District Garden Club on Oct. 9. The centennial year will also be featured during the annual conference.

This was adopted at the annual meeting on Saturday in the Dillman Room at the Rutland Centennial hall, attended by delegate from Armstrong, Salmon Arm, Vernon, Summerland, Penticton and Kelowna.

Reports presented by each club on the activities of the year were interesting and varied.

FOUND OCCASIONALLY

The hatchet fish is a small oceanic fish found only occasionally in both the Pacific and Atlantic oceans at great depths.

Plans for the fall convention were discussed and officers for the 1971-72 term were elected as follows: president, Mrs. Harold James, Kelowna; vice-president, John Richetts, Vernon; secretary, Mrs. George Thompson, Kelowna; treasurer, Mrs. Charles Butcher, Kelowna; and co-ordinator, Mrs. William Langstaff of Vernon.

Delegates, taken on a tour of the Rutland hall to familiarize them with the facilities, were impressed.

Following the business meeting, refreshments were served by Mrs. Archie Mephram and Mrs. G. J. Stuart.

ANN LANDERS

Volunteer Worker Relieves Loneliness

Dear Ann Landers: I'm writing this to the 50-year-old widow who is desperate for someone to talk to. She said if she had to spend another Saturday evening alone she'd go out of her mind.

This dame sounds like a bore to me. I was disgusted with her letter. How in the world can a person be lonely when there are so many things that need doing? And why did she invite married couples to dinner when she is single? What fun could there be in THAT?

This woman needs to get off her you-know-what and go to work. For nothing, if necessary. There isn't a hospital in this country that can't use help.

Convoluted homes, homes for the aged, children's hospitals. She could read to the blind, assist with occupational therapy, be a Grey Lady—the list is endless. Surely she knows a younger woman with a family who would love a free sitter one day a week—or an evening. If Mrs. Lonely can type there are dozens of volunteer offices who would welcome her help. If she can't type she can answer phones or stuff envelopes.

I am in my mid-50's and also a widow, but there aren't enough hours in the day for me. Believe me I have no time to cook dinners for married couples. What that woman needs is some get-up-and-go. Tell her so, Ann.—First Time Writer From St. Cloud.

Dear First: Of course you are right, but please don't be too harsh on the poor gal. Not everyone has your energy and outgoing personality. Maybe her "get-up-and-go" got up and went.

I agree. Busy people are happy people. Perhaps something in your letter will strike a responsive chord. I hope so.

Dear Ann Landers: I am engaged to a handsome young man who has many good qualities. Andy's display of temper last Sunday gave me some second thoughts. Here is what happened:

A former boyfriend whom I hadn't seen in three years dropped by at five o'clock. I had a date with Andy for six. He showed up 40 minutes early. I was sitting in the living room with my parents and the former boyfriend. I could see Andy was upset. He motioned for me to come into the kitchen. When he demanded that I tell the fellow to leave, I explained it would be rude and suggested that he sit down and be pleasant and soon the guest would leave on his own. Andy got red in the face and stormed out of the house. We heard a loud crash. He had driven his car into the garage door and then driven off.

My Dad suggested I write to Ann Landers and ask what my life will be like if I marry this guy.—Ruth Who Wants Truth.

Dear Ruth: Probably a series of loud crashes. Insist that Andy get professional help and learn to channel his hostility. Or be prepared to live with broken furniture, broken garage doors and maybe broken bones.

Dear Ann Landers: Our daughter wants to announce her engagement to a fine young man who lives in a far-distant city. They met in college. A point of etiquette, please. Should we contact the young man's parents or wait until they contact us? We want to do the proper thing and none of us knows what it is. Thank you.—Confused.

Dear Con: According to "The Book," the parents of the young man should contact the parents of the young lady. This is merely a formality, however. Common sense takes precedence over any rule of etiquette. Telephone the parents of your future son-in-law or write a letter saying you are pleased about the upcoming engagement, and invite them to your city.

First Union Day Care Centre Opens In Victoria On April 1

VICTORIA (CP)—The British Columbia Government Employees' Union said Monday Canada's first union-sponsored day care centre for children of working mothers will open here April 1.

The sponsor of the new centre is the Victoria branch of the BCGEU, whose 2,000 members put up $4,000 for operation and renovation of a building with facilities for care of 20 children aged three to five on a non-profit basis. Union electricians, carpenters and other tradesmen donated their time and skills to the renovation job.

'Shower' Taped For Overseas

A coffee party shower was held recently at the home of Mrs. Byrl Darling to honor bride-elect, Gwenneth Hutchings. Guests included Mrs. J. Bremner, Dawson City, Yukon and Mrs. M. L. Green, White Rock, B.C.

Under the pretext that they were being invited over for a casual cup of coffee, Gwenneth and her sister-in-law to be, Mrs. Glenn Green, walked in and were greeted by the guests, much to Gwenneth's surprise.

The gifts were brought in on a mock-up of a goldpan, as Gwenneth will be making her home in Dawson City, where her husband to be, has a gold mining operation. Mrs. Glenn Green, matron of honor, assisted Gwenneth in opening her gifts, which were passed around for the admiration of the guests.

Unknown to Gwenneth, Mrs. Harry Williams had installed a tape recorder behind her chair in order to tape the proceedings, to be sent to Gwenneth's mother in Australia. While refreshments were being served, the tape was rerun.

Gwenneth and Ian Bremner were married the following day, March 17 at the St. Michael and All Angels' Anglican Church, Kelowna.

Registered Nurses Support Nurses' Rights In Abortions

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Registered Nurses' Association of British Columbia said today it supports liberalization of abortion legislation in Canada so that the final decision about abortion can be made between a woman and her doctor.

The association, in a position paper on abortion, also supports a nurse's right to abstain from participating in the nursing care of patients seeking, having or recovering from a therapeutic abortion except in emergency cases.

While the association believes that the provisions of competent nursing care for patients having therapeutic abortions is the responsibility of the nursing profession, it also recognizes that nurses, as individuals, hold certain moral, religious or ethical beliefs about abortion and may in good conscience be compelled to refuse involvement, says the paper.

Health facilities, says the association, should make plans for staffing with personnel willing and competent to care for these patients.

BIG COMMITMENT
To date, Ontario Hydro has spent more than $50 million on air quality control.

The RNABC also urges federally supported research programs on contraception and dissemination of birth control information because it believes abortion should not replace other methods of birth control.

Rangers And North Stars Both Enjoyed Their Game

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

New York Rangers locked up second place in the National Hockey League East Division Tuesday night as Minnesota North Stars clinched a playoff berth in the West.

The Rangers whipped Buffalo Sabres 7-2 to finally move out of reach of third-place Montreal Canadiens while the North Stars downed Los Angeles Kings 3-1.

In the only other game, Vancouver Canucks upset St. Louis Blues 4-1.

The North Stars, now just six points behind second-place St. Louis in the West, have moved out of reach of fifth-place Pittsburgh Penguins who now must pin their playoff hopes on the slim chance of catching Philadelphia Flyers.

MIKE BYERS
... the spoiler

The Penguins, with just one game remaining, trail the Flyers by eight points going tonight's game against Detroit Red Wings at Pittsburgh. The Flyers are in action against the Canadiens in Montreal while Toronto Maple Leafs visit California Golden Seals and Boston Bruins meet the Black Hawks in Chicago.

SET TEAM RECORD

The North Stars set a team record for number of wins in a season as they counted their 28th against the Kings in Minneapolis. They set their old mark of 27 wins in their first season in the league—1967-68.

Danny Grant, with his 32nd goal of the season, and defenseman Ted Harris scored on power plays for the North Stars and Ted Hampson collected the other goal while Minnesota was short-handed.

Goalie Cesare Maniago, who earlier was named most valuable player by his Minnesota teammates, had his shutout bid ruined by Mike Byers' goal at 4:31 of the third period.

The Sabres, smarting from a series of fines assessed Tuesday by league president Clarence Campbell, lacked the spark they showed Sunday in beating Boston Bruins 7-5. In fact, they were outclassed as the Rangers outshot them 50-23 in the game at New York.

The fines, totalling $1,300 against 11 Buffalo players, were handed out for a bench-clearing incident in the Boston game Sunday. The Bruins also suffered as Campbell fined 12 Boston players a total of $3,900.

HAD IT EASY

The Rangers took advantage of the subdued Sabres and moved to a 2-1 lead after the first period and 4-1 after the second.

Vic Hadfield scored twice to lead the Ranger assault on hard-working Buffalo goalie Dave Dryden.

The game saw the return from the injury list of defenseman Brad Park and Rod Seiling.

At Vancouver, Andre Boudrias led the Vancouver scorers with two goals and netminder George Gardner provided the defence against a 34-shot St. Louis attack.

The Canucks tested Blues goalie Ernie Wakely 33 times with Danny Johnson and Bob Schanz getting the other goals before a crowd of 15,570.

Griffiths Wins On Decision

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Top-ranked middleweight contender Emile Griffith took control early with body punches Tuesday night and scored a unanimous 10-round decision over Rafael Gutierrez of Mexico.

Griffith, the 33-year-old New Yorker who lost the middleweight crown three years ago, landed three good blows to Gutierrez' stomach in the first round and also hurt him with several left jabs.

The Mexican, who now fights out of Sacramento, Calif., came back in late rounds but he didn't have enough strength left to hurt Griffith.

Griffith weighed 155½ pounds, Gutierrez 163. The Mexican fighter, who is 29, was unable to make the 160-pound limit. Griffith agreed to fight him after Gutierrez signed a contract promising a return bout in case he upset Griffith.

Overtime Hit Wins For Trail

TRAIL, B.C. (CP) — Jim Wilkinson scored a goal at 6:16 of overtime Tuesday night to give Victoria Cubs a 7-6 win over defending British Columbia Junior B hockey champions Trail Junior Smoke Eaters and a berth in the B.C. Junior B hockey finals this weekend in Kamloops.

The game was the second of a best-of-three semi-final series. It was forced into overtime at 9:59 of the third period when a goal by Victoria's Don Blyth tied the game 4-4.

Victoria led 2-1 after the first period and the game was tied 3-3 at the end of the second. Victoria won the opener 10-9 Monday.

Bucks Bombed By Pentiction

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Opening night success in British Columbia Junior Hockey League quarter-final action belongs to Pentiction Broncos and Kamloops Rockets.

Both got off to one-game leads in their best-of-seven series, the Okanagan division champion Broncos by bombing Kelowna Buckaroos 7-3 at Pentiction and Kamloops by shutting out Vernon Essos 3-0 at Vernon.

Broncos and Buckaroos meet again tonight at Kelowna while game No. 2 in the other series is set for Thursday night in Kamloops.

Pentiction scorers were Vic Mercedi and linemate Fred Parent with two goals apiece and Bruce Affleck, Chad Campbell and Rick Taggart.

Bruce Gerlach, Abe Apisla and Ken Selinger replied for Kelowna.

Kamloops goalie Jim Evans got off to a shutout start as Rockets romped to victory with a goal a period — from Gary Johnson, Jerry Holland and Tim Peck.

The Buckaroos and Broncos resume their quarter-final series tonight in the Memorial Arena beginning at 8 p.m.

SUMMARY

First period — 1. Pentiction, Campbell (Taggart, Affleck) 3:24; 2. Pentiction, Mercedi (Affleck) 6:34; 3. Kelowna, Gerlach (Matlock) 6:44. Penalties — Fox K 2:05, Campbell P 5:06, Merritt K 5:56, Donaldson P 10:30, Huck K 16:24.

Top World Hockey Teams Face Toughest Tests Today

BERN, Switzerland (CP-AP) — The Soviet titleholders and Sweden, the only unbeaten teams in the 1971 world hockey championships, both face tough matches today that could swing the tournament toward a battle between the two for the gold medal.

The Russians, by mopping up the weaker opposition so far, built a perfect foundation for their game this afternoon against Czechoslovakia, which must win to stay in contention for the title.

The Czechs upset the Russians twice in 1969 but they lost twice to the Soviet Union in 1970.

This year, the Czechs got off to a poor start, bowing to the Americans and Swedes, and a loss today to Russia would just about kill their remote chances for a gold medal.

There may be fireworks during today's sold-out contest, but they are unlikely to be political as in the 1969 tournament in Stockholm, where exiles bitterly protested the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968.

The Czech team here is obviously well-disciplined and the tournament organizers have taken steps to prevent large groups of Czech exiles now living in Switzerland from starting a row at the rink. The organizers refused to sell large blocks of tickets for the game.

TWO UNBEATEN

The Russians and Swedes head the six-country tournament with 3-0 won-lost records and six points.

Although the Russians seem as strong as ever in their bid for a ninth straight world title, even the best side rarely remains unbeaten in the strenuous 16-day world championship program in which each country plays 10 games.

While the Czechs showed a glimpse of their true form in routing West Germany 9-1 Monday, the Swedes were almost as effective in beating the West Germans Tuesday 7-2.

The United States, after upsetting the Czechs 5-1 last Friday, has lost three straight, including a 7-4 defeat at the hands of Finland Tuesday.

The Finns, in third place with a 2-1 mark and four points, play Sweden in today's other scheduled game.

The double-round-robin tournament is split into two sections. The first half winds up Friday with Sweden playing Russia. The second half begins in Geneva Saturday and ends April 3.

Down-To-Wire Race Lacking

BOSTON (AP) — Phil Esposito has just about locked up the 1970-71 National Hockey League scoring title, and apparently there won't be any down-to-the-wire race with his Boston Bruins teammate Bobby Orr.

Esposito's eight-point lead with just six regular-season games left would be a difficult one for Orr to make up under any circumstances. And with the East Division championship already clinched, the Bruins plan to rest their super defenceman as they tune up for the Stanley Cup playoffs.

"The decision was made after talking it over with Bobby," coach Tom Johnson said just before the Bruins flew out of Boston for tonight's game against the Black Hawks in Chicago.

"He needs the rest more than he needs that," he said of the scoring race.

Esposito's lead is built on a record 67 goals and 74 assists while Orr follows with 37 goals and 86 assists.

Orr has logged a tremendous amount of ice time this season, sometimes as much as 38 or 40 minutes a game, in leading the Bruins to their first Prince of Wales Trophy in 30 years. Now Johnson is primarily concerned with having his superstar fresh for the defence of the Stanley Cup which begins April 7.

"He'll play most in special situations such as the power play and penalty killing situations for the next few games," Johnson said. "That's until the final week when he'll play more to be fully ready for the playoffs."

Such a schedule is hardly calculated to let Orr even keep pace with Esposito, who will be taking a more or less regular turn. Orr isn't likely to get many points in penalty-killing situations, and when he's out there on the power play, Esposito will be on the ice with him.

Four Hurlers Get Top Marks At Spring Exhibition Games

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Spring training is that time of year when the pitchers are supposed to be ahead of the hitters, but last year Steve Carlton, Luis Tiant, Tommy John and Tom Griffin weren't ahead of anybody.

Such wasn't the case Tuesday as all four hurlers turned in impressive exhibition outings.

Carlton, a 20-game winner in 1969, slipped to 10-19 a year ago. Tuesday he worked seven strong innings, yielding only two runs as St. Louis Cardinals trimmed Cincinnati Reds 5-2 with Jose Cardenal collecting two doubles and two singles.

Tiant, once a star with Cleveland Indians, turned in a deceptive 1970 record of 7-3 with Minnesota, but the Twins got him plenty of runs and he was beset by injuries much of the year. His contribution Tuesday was four innings, one run, four hits, two walks and four strikeouts in the Twins' 8-3 romp over Atlanta Braves.

John, counted to be half of Chicago White Sox' 1-2 pitching punch, finished with a 12-17 record. He stifled New York Yankees on one run through seven innings Tuesday and the White Sox pushed across a run in the eighth to win 4-3.

Griffin, an impressive 1969 rookie, spent part of last season nursing his sore arm in the minors after compiling a 4-13 record and a 5.76 earned-run average with Houston. Tuesday, the Astros battered Los Angeles Dodgers 8-3 and Griffin went six innings, allowing three hits and three runs, two of them unearned.

But Tuesday's pitching hero was Shoji Murata of Japan's Lotte Orions. He pitched a complete game six-hitter and fanned 13 in a 9-4 triumph over Cleveland. It was the 22-year-old right-hander's second complete game, the first coming against California.

The Angels didn't have to face Murata this time but had their troubles with San Diego Padres, who scored twice in the ninth and held off California 5-4. Tommy Dean, who drove in his first run of the spring earlier in the game, brought home the tie-breaker with a single.

Some other strong pitching was turned in by Detroit Tigers' Joe Coleman, who stopped Kansas City 6-1 with seven good innings and received home-run support from Norm Cash, Willie Horton, Aurelio Rodriguez and Dalton Jones.

There's A 'Sleeper' In There At NHL Draft Proceedings

MONTREAL (CP) — The names of Guy Lafleur, Jocelyn Guevremont and Marcel Dionne have been prominent in discussions among hockey scouts about top junior draft choices in the annual National Hockey League draft of amateur players.

But Roger Bedard, coach of Montreal Junior Canadiens of the Ontario Hockey Association Junior A series, feels one of his forwards will be a "sleeper" at this year's draft proceedings to be held in June.

His name: Richard Martin, a high-scoring left winger completing his third year with the Montreal team.

Martin has not scored 130 goals this season as Lafleur did in leading Quebec Remparts to their second straight Quebec Junior A Hockey League title. Nor is Martin challenging Dionne of St. Catharines Black Hawks for the scoring leadership in the OHA.

"Richard is an honest hockey player, a good worker, and he should have no trouble making it in professional hockey," said Bedard in an interview.

Martin, who possesses a devastating shot, broke an OHA record for most goals in a regular season last Friday night, scoring his 69th of the season as Canadiens lost a 5-2 decision to Toronto Marlboros.

The old record of 68 goals in a season was held by Brian Cullen who set it in 1953-54 with St. Catharines Tee Pees.

"I'm glad he got the record," said Bedard. "He deserves it. His 68 goals in the Ontario league are worth 188 in that Quebec league."

Martin joined the Junior Canadiens at the start of the 1968-69 season after a year with Thetford Mines of the Quebec league.

One criticism of his play has been his spotty defensive work, something he is working on.

"I want to play well both offensively and defensively," he said. "Sometimes I just forget about defensive play."

Martin does not really care which club picks him in the draft.

"Your choice is as good as mine. I just want to make it. The feeling among scouts is that he should have little trouble."

Salmon Arm Nabs Hockey Crown

SALMON ARM, B.C. (CP) — Salmon Arm Lighnurs won the British Columbia Juvenile Hockey championships Tuesday night, wrapping up a best-of-three final in two straight games by defeating Powell River Knights 9-8 before close to 1,000 fans.

Ted Spelay's four-goal performance sparked Salmon Arm. Terry Dearing contributed three goals while Blaine Turner and Rick Farrell added singles.

For Powell River, Graham Clark was top scorer with two goals.

Salmon Arm won the opening match 6-4 Monday. Until the final series, Powell River hadn't lost a game all season.

Kings Cross The Picket Lines And Also Voyageurs' Goal Line

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Springfield Kings crossed picket lines at Halifax Tuesday night to beat Montreal Voyageurs 2-0 and stayed in the middle of the tight American Hockey League Eastern Division race.

In one other game, Baltimore Clippers padded their lead atop the Western Division with a 6-3 victory over Providence Reds.

The Halifax Forum was picketed by striking members of the local civic workers' union whose members are seeking wage increases, and the Voyageurs had to do some improvising in their role as hosts to the Kings.

Two spectators were recruited as goal judges and Voyageurs staff, along with Forum management, helped prepare the ice between periods.

The Voyageurs, however, were unable to improvise a goal against the shutout performance of Springfield netminder Bill Smith.

The Voyageurs outshot the Kings 38-30 but it was Springfield's Butch Goring and Doug Volmar who got the goals against Montreal netminder Wayne Thomas.

The win pulled the Kings into a tie with Providence, four points behind leading Montreal in the Western Division. Quebec

Britain And U.S. Appear Set To Join Canada's Air Charter Move

OTTAWA (CP) — Britain and the United States appear to have joined Canada in the forefront of a move to amend the regulations governing group air charters.

W. W. Pickersgill, president of the Canadian transport commission, recently told a Commons committee Canada would end so-called affinity charters if international co-operation weren't required.

Now the United States Civil Aeronautics Board has served notice it is considering a change to its rules covering affinity flights while BOAC in Britain has introduced a plan which gets around the affinity rule.

Under the affinity rule an organization whose main purpose is not travel can charter an international flight for less than ordinary air fares. The only catch is that those in the charter group must have been association members for longer than six months prior to the flight.

Mr. Pickersgill told the Commons committee the rule creates a privileged class of traveler and is almost impossible to enforce.

He said he would like to see the rule wiped out so a charter group could be "organized simply for travel, without the members of the group having to belong to some association for a purpose other than travel."

AGREEMENT NEEDED

But, he said, the rule could only be eliminated through international agreement.

Up to now all European countries had supported the rule as set out by the International Air Transport Association.

But, four months ago a group of European air carriers held a meeting to discuss the affinity problem, he said, and another meeting is planned for Washington next month.

The U.S. board proposed in February that any combination of 50 or more people who can make firm plans six months in advance could take advantage of low charter fares.

The board did not say when it planned to introduce the new rule.

BOAC plans to extend a program it introduced for flights from Britain to certain Caribbean islands last year.

The BOAC fares offer big reductions for passengers who pay

SALT Talks Like Blindman's Buff Players Know Only Some Elements

VIENNA (Reuter) — The top-level strategic arms limitation talks between the Soviet Union and the United States bear some relation to an international game of blind man's buff.

Like the blindfolded man in the game, each of the two nuclear giants knows only some of the elements of the situation. Furthermore, both players in this international exercise are keeping all their options open.

When American and Soviet chief delegates arrived in Vienna March 15 to start the fourth round of the 16-month-old talks on limiting strategic nuclear arms there were guardedly encouraging statements on each side.

American chief delegate Gerard Smith said he thought the basis of an agreement might be emerging. Vladimir Semionov, the chief Soviet delegate, said his government had instructed him to seek positive results.

With these joint expressions of goodwill and earnest intentions, the two sides almost immediately got down to reviewing possitions after a three months' pause since the end of the last round in Helsinki, Finland.

But no one—not even the most astute expert—can be completely sure that he knows what the Soviet government really means by "positive results."

Does it mean something similar to the American side's aim—an agreement to limit strategic missiles, including both strike and defensive systems, in one elaborate package to curb the upward arms spiral but leaving both states confident that they retain enough of a nuclear punch to deter the other from any surprise attack?

In private and informal discussions, some Russian diplomats here have favored the idea of a joint U.S.-Soviet declaration to renounce the use of nuclear force in regulating their problems.

But if this were to be accepted as a genuine component of the Soviet negotiating strategy, it would cause some dismay to the Americans, who seek specific agreements on several classes of strategic nuclear weapons and who are not interested in broad statements of goodwill couched in vague terms.

It is still too soon to determine whether the traditional Russian inclination toward secrecy and general statements of goodwill will be injected into SALT.

SAYS CENTRE WORKER

Public Doesn't Realize Duties Of Health Nurse

RUTLAND—A Rutland public health nurse says its frustrating to realize how few people know what services something as vital as a public health centre provides.

Mrs. Joan Madill, who works at the Rutland Public Health Centre, said few people seem to have any idea what public health nurses do.

"No one seems to know what we do," said Mrs. Madill. "Many people seem to think we are either welfare nurses who work for the Social Service Bureau, or else school nurses who work for the Department of Education. It's not that we don't work with welfare cases, or that we don't visit schools, but we do a lot more than this."

STAFF OF THREE

Mrs. Madill is one of three nurses who work out of the Rutland Public Health Centre. She and Miss Margaret Wootton, another of the three nurses, have been at the Rutland complex for three years. Their colleague, Mrs. Betty Smith, has been at the centre since it opened in 1965.

Miss Wootton said she likes to emphasize that her approach to health problems is a preventive one, rather than being treatment oriented.

In the family planning service the centre provides, for instance, the approach is to help those with children "to be more meaningful parents."

"We recommend books for the parents to read, for instance," said Mrs. Madill. "We also make home visits as part of our post-natal program. If there appears to be any problem, either medical or psychological, we refer children to doctors."

The centre provides both pre-natal and post-natal care. The pre-natal services include classes for expectant parents, hospital visits to expectant mothers, and to mothers who have given birth, and home visits and counselling for new parents.

PLANNING ADVICE

As part of the post-natal program the nurses give family planning advice. They also take part in what's called a "Growth and Development Program."

It is within the context of this program that the three nurses aim to help parents to become "more meaningful" in their approach to their children.

Miss Wootton admitted a certain amount of cultural bias could make her less effective as a "Growth and Development" counsellor. For instance, how would she, a university graduate from a middle class background, relate to a family from a lower socio-economic background?

"I have, and all public health nurses have, extensive sociological knowledge as a result of our academic college background," said Miss Wootton. "As a result of this we're expected to, and I think we do, adjust to different family groupings according to their level and standards."

Miss Wootton and her nursing comrades also conduct clinics for pre-schoolers just about to enter kindergarten.

At these clinics they conduct vision and hearing tests and they also give children the Denver Development Screening Test. The Denver Developmental Test examines the level of a child's linguistic, psychological, sociological, and motor development. The aim is to see "if there have been any delays in development," according to Mrs. Madill.

VISITS SCHOOLS

The public health nurses also make personal visits to Rutland schools. During these visits they concern themselves with students who are judged "abnormal" in some way.

"Don't misunderstand us when we say we work with students who are abnormal," said Mrs. Madill. "We do not establish some sort of rigid definition of what is normal. Instead we work with those who are prevented some how from reaching the limits of their sociological, psychological, or physical potential."

Miss Wootton said she often refers students who are "behavioral problems" to the Kelowna Mental Health Clinic.

"But when we refer someone to the clinic it certainly doesn't mean they're psychotic, or anything," she said. "It just means they may need some preventive psychological aid."

The centre also provides immunization services. The three public health nurses participate in this service also. They provide immunization to prevent diphtheria, whooping cough, tetanus, polio, smallpox, and measles. They also offer immunization to those travelling abroad.

The three nurses also provide a recuperation service for patients returning home from hospital. They train family members how to care for the ill after an initial period in which they take over the recuperative function.

As if this all weren't enough they also help to treat communicable diseases by referring those with venereal disease or tuberculosis to doctors.

What is even more remarkable is that all of these services are provided free of charge by the Rutland Health Centre.

Engineer Charges Railways Using Untrained Helpers

OTTAWA (CP) — The safety of passenger trains is endangered by the use of untrained firemen's helpers, Dennis Lawrence Dohm, a Canadian National Railways engineer, said Tuesday.

Mr. Dohm, chairman of the Kamloops, B.C., local of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, told the Canadian transport commission that use of these helpers could lead to a "really bad accident with passenger trains."

He spoke at a commission inquiry into railway safety. The commission is looking into an accident which took the lives of three CNR employees when their freight struck a rockslide and several cars tumbled into the Fraser River near Boston Bar, B.C., Feb. 15.

Mr. Dohm said his union has brought the helper problem to the attention of management but has been told that brakemen will continue to be used as firemen's helpers. "I assume the president of the company has signed an agreement with the brakemen's union."

James McCarthy Well Known In Westbank

WESTBANK — James Dorrer McCarthy, 53, of 1590 Nelson Ave., West Vancouver, died March 14, following a lengthy illness.

Mr. McCarthy was well known both in Kelowna and Westbank, where he had an orchard holding as well as a summer home.

He was born in Winnipeg, enlisted in the Winnipeg Grenadiers in September, 1939, and as a lieutenant accompanied his regiment to Hong Kong in 1941. On Christmas Day, 1941, the regiment was over-run by Japanese troops and surrendered, and Mr. McCarthy elected to share the prison camp of his men rather than be interned with the officers.

Following the war Mr. McCarthy settled in Vancouver, where, at the time of his death, he was senior vice-president of Weldwood of Canada, Ltd.

Surviving Mr. McCarthy are his wife Moira, his daughter Meghan, and his son Martin. Three brothers also survive—Tim of Penticton, Jack and Don of Vancouver.

Funeral services were held March 17 at St. Stephen's Anglican Church, West Vancouver, with Rev. E. Wallace and Rev. J. A. Leahy, S.J., officiating. Interment followed at Capilano View Cemetery.

Pallbearers were Kaz Taneda and Dudley A. Pritchard of Westbank; D. A. Hogarth, QC, MP of New Westminster; Dr. W. Reg Govan and B. McCrick of Westbank and Martin Jones, Robert Crosby and William MacRae of Vancouver.

Vernonite Jailed In Cattle Theft

VERNON, (CP) — Ronald Bruce Reynolds, 38, has been sentenced to three years in jail for cattle theft.

Reynolds was charged after the theft and killing last December of six head of cattle owned by the Frolek Cattle Co. which operates a large ranch in the Kamloops-Vernon area of south-central British Columbia.

He was given a one-year concurrent term for killing the cattle. A charge of possession of stolen cattle was dropped.

PENN LAMENTS:

Freight Cars Hard To Find

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Losing a railway freight car is easy. Finding it is tougher, especially when it has been rerouted, repainted and given a fake serial number.

The Penn. Central, largest U.S. railway, reorganizing under the federal bankruptcy laws because it lost money while hauling people and goods, now reports it also lost freight cars.

At least 277, worth more than $1 million.

The FBI and the Federal Task Force on Organized Crime are investigating the mysterious disappearance — and how the cars, bearing new colors and new identities, turned up as the alleged property of the La Salle and Bureau County Railroad, a 15-mile-long line in Northern Illinois. No charges have been filed.

Here's how freight cars can go astray:

There are more than two million freight cars in the United States and they all move in a common pool, carrying raw materials and finished goods around the continent over some 220,000 miles of track operated by nearly 800 companies. Penn Central has 180,000 cars and 20 per cent of the trackage.

TRAVEL FAR

The problem is that the cars of all railways operate on the lines of all rail lines. It is the duty of the line whose tracks are being used to keep track of all cars that it is hauling, whether they are its own or others.

Thus Penn Central, for instance, is responsible for a car of another railway that travels its tracks, and collects rent for that car's ride.

The return trip sometimes takes days. More often it is weeks or months. A car might not come back to the owner line until it has been loaded and unloaded a dozen times or more.

The rules of the Association of American Railroads require that a freight car be started back toward its home base as soon as possible after it has unloaded its original cargo. It must travel empty if no goods are available, but usually cars are held on sidings until a payload can be obtained.

There are occasions when cars are pulled off for repairs. And the other instances where cars are switched illegally and secretly to unreported tracks or shops and given new identities.

Freight yard workers say it's easy to change a car's registration, by counterfeiting new serial plates or oblittering old ones. A coat of paint wipes out one railway's name and new insignia attempt to establish instant new ownership.

Cavaliers Matched Mark

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cleveland Cavaliers tied a National Basketball Association record against Portland Tuesday but it was the Trail Blazers that did the celebrating.

Portland's 114-112 victory over Cleveland enabled the Cavaliers to match the mark for most losses by an NBA team. They finished the season with a 15-67 record, the same established by San Diego Rockets in 1967-68.

The game was the last scheduled for the regular season in the NBA. Playoff games begin tonight in Baltimore between the Bullets and Philadelphia 76ers, and in Los Angeles between the Lakers and Chicago Bulls.

Geoff Petri scored 37 points for the Trail Blazers. It brought his season total to 2,031 and made him the seventh player in NBA history to score more than 2,000 points in the rookie year.

Portland led until 6:28 when Walt Wesley tied the score with a field goal at 100-all. The lead went both ways until Petrie's 22-foot jump shot gave the Trail Blazers a 113-112 edge with 21 seconds left. Stan McKenzie added a free throw with three remaining.

Wesley led Cleveland with 35 points.

Kidnap Suspect Held In Ankara

ANKARA (AP) — A third member of a student gang accused of kidnapping four U.S. airmen and other terrorist acts was captured Tuesday in east Turkey. Huseyin Inan was caught sleeping at a relative's house at Sariz, police said. Two other alleged student terrorists, Deniz Gezmiş and Yusuf Aslan, were arrested March 17 after a shootout with police.

PoWs Remembered

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon proclaimed Friday a national Week of Concern starting Sunday for Americans who are prisoners of war or missing in action. The proclamation pledges that "we will neither forget them nor abandon them." About 1,600 Americans are missing or known to have been captured in the Vietnamese war.

FIX-UP JOB

CITRUSDALE, South Africa (AP) — Farmer Jan Mouton said the radiator hose burst when he was on his way to market with a truckload of watermelons, so he patched the hose with tape, strained the juice of six melons into the radiator and drove to a garage.

Teet-Zee's Disease A Pain In Chest

By George C. Thosteson, M.D.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I've been in pain for eight months with what my doctor called "Teet-Zee's disease." That's the way it sounds.

I understood it to be a sprain of my ribs and breastbone, and he said it would be all right in six weeks—but eight months later it still hurts.

Shouldn't it have healed by now? What causes it? What can I do to ease the pain or prevent it? Honestly, will it ever go away?—B.A.

It's called Tietze's disease—pronounced just the way you wrote it. It is a painful swelling, usually where the second rib attaches to the breast bone. Yes, it is painful—it hurts to breathe or wear a bra, and usually occurs in women in the 30-to-40 age bracket.

It is not cancerous; it is not a form of arthritis; and your doctor's forecast that it probably would be all right in six weeks was reasonable. It quite commonly works out that way. But not always—as you found out.

Injection of a steroid (cortisone-type) material into the area usually affords relief. (A tip: heat, however, usually aggravates the pain.)

Meantime an interesting observation has been made by a physician who kept track of patients with Tietze's disease. He noticed that five of them had one leg shorter than the other. The lump associated with the disease usually occurs on the left side; with these cases, the right leg was a bit shorter.

While the cause of the disease has not been definitely determined, it seems likely that this observation might be an enlightening clue.

Anyway, after noticing that seeming connection between the disease and a small difference in leg length, the doctor advised his patients to have a lift of 3/16 to 1/4 of an inch on the shoe, to equalize. It would seem to make sense, and you might well try it.

Meantime, also watch out for high heels which could throw you out of balance.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: When a young woman has intercourse and takes no precautions, the result is a baby. What happens to a woman past menopause? Is the sperm absorbed? Will there be ill effects if she doesn't always douche?—A.S.

Correction: The result may be a baby. But only one of the millions of sperm cells is involved in the pregnancy. The rest drain away harmlessly. After menopause, douching is not necessary, and not even advisable. The sperm drains away just as most of it (all but an occasional single cell) drains away before menopause, too. And without harm.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I am past 70 and have a mole on my side about the size of a dime. It started to itch and during the night I must have scratched it and part of the gray outside came off and it bled a little. Would you suggest that I have this removed and if so how? Could there be a possibility of its being malignant?—G.E.R.

Moles, when they bleed or begin to change in any way, are subject to suspicion. Yes, I'd get rid of it. How? Let your doctor decide on the best method, but he doubtless will want to have the tissues examined to see if early cancer is present. If so, a bit of the surrounding tissue probably would be removed too, for safety.

Opening lead—nine of spades. There are various and sundry miracles you can perform at the bridge table if you put your mind to the subject. Perhaps today's hand exemplifies only a junior miracle, but it does have a neat twist.

West led the nine of spades, declarer covering with dummy's ten. East could have made life easy for South by playing the queen—but of course he didn't.

Declarer next made the proper play of a low diamond from dummy, hoping East would mistakenly rush up with the ace. But East was under no pressure in diamonds and put on the queen, which South ruffed.

Declarer now played the A-Q of clubs, in that order, hoping to find the trumps divided 2-2, in which case he could safely take a spade finesse—but East showed out on the second trump and South was forced to seek another way of trying to make the slam.

After ruffing another diamond, drawing West's last trump and cashing the ace of spades, South led the king of hearts. East could not afford to take the ace, for that would give declarer an entry to dummy for the vital spade finesse—so he quite rightly ducked. But South was not to be denied. He cashed his last two trumps, reducing his own hand to three cards consisting of the K-J of spades and jack of hearts. Dummy by this time had the ten of spades and Q-7 of hearts, and East had the Q-6 of spades and ace of hearts.

Declarer thereupon led the jack of hearts, forcing East to win with the ace and return a spade. South finessed and in that way brought home a well-played slam.

U.S. Environmental Policy Act 'Is What's Needed In Canada'

VANCOUVER (CP)—A Liberal member of Parliament said here that Canada needs legislation similar to the United States' National Environmental Policy Act to provide public information on projects that could cause ecological disaster.

David Anderson, MP for Esquimalt-Saanich, told a dinner at the University of British Columbia that Canada "is in a comparatively poor position to the U.S." in this field.

He said it now seems possible that the National Energy Board will carry out ecological studies on the suitability of the Mackenzie Valley route as an alternative to shipping U.S. oil in huge tankers from Alaska to a refinery just south of the B.C. border.

However, he added: "This board is not well suited to dealing with ecological problems."

Mr. Anderson said the board is not independent enough and has no direct responsibility to the new ministry of environment to be headed by Fisheries Minister Jack Davis.

"The tendency will be for the board at upper levels not to be ecologically sympathetic. Even with all the best will in the world, ecological consideration will be wiped out at the lower levels."

He said what is needed is a single document to deal with ecological matters.

Apr. 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—Expect the unexpected—perhaps a rush job to be tackled.

May 22 to Jun. 21 (Gemini)—A short trip indicated. Possibly to be most pleasurable.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—Not a good day for starting new undertakings. Stick to routine.

July 24 to Aug. 23 (Leo)—Don't let your enthusiasm cause you to take on more than you can handle.

Aug. 24 to Sept. 23 (Virgo)—Your ambitions stimulated now. Go after what you want—and get it!

Sept. 24 to Oct. 23 (Libra)—Don't make changes in routine affairs—no matter how pressures you.

Oct. 24 to Nov. 22 (Scorpio)—Curb your innate aggressiveness. Misunderstandings possible.

Nov. 23 to Dec. 21 (Sagittarius)—A conference with an influential associate results in career boost.

Dec. 22 to Jan. 20 (Capricorn)—Curb tendencies toward restlessness. Keep your mind on key objectives.

Jan. 21 to Feb. 19 (Aquarius)—An excellent day for advancing personal plans and creative projects.

Feb. 20 to Mar. 20 (Pisces)—Your judgment a bit "cloudy" now. Use care in making decisions.

Astropeaks—Another day in which it would be more practical to stick to routine matters and reject the unfamiliar—no matter how just a new proposition may sound. The late afternoon hours will be auspicious for discussing financial transactions—but only with persons whom you know to be trustworthy. And, even then, give careful thought before signing on the dotted line.
